A supplemental book is any book used in its entirety in addition to district-adopted texts. These books typically include chapter books and novels. Beginning in 3rd grade, any chapter book/novel used to enhance any content area, including small group, literature circles or whole class must be approved by the Board of Trustees. Books identified for independent reading at any grade do not need Board approval, nor do books used for a read aloud. Please note that some titles on this list are protected at a specific grade level because of specific grade-level curriculum ties. Protected books should not be used outside of the grade level for which they are designated. Books that are not protected may be used at any grade as determined by individual school-level teams. Books in grades K-2 are not protected, but are included in this list as a reference for teachers to use to help integrate literacy into content areas.
