

Human Interactions

Golden eagles do not like humans, mostly because farmers used to shoot them down. shoot them away from the their animals so they don't kill the animals in the farm.

Do Humans Interact With It?

Humans interact with the golden eagle but it does not like humans. It is negative that the golden eagle does not like humans. We should lure it and feed it but not own it.

Adaptations

The golden eagle has brown feathers with a little bit of white and light brown. It lays one to four eggs. It can reach up to speeds at 150 miles per hour. To help it flee if needed. It survives by eating other birds and smaller ground animals.

Work sited

National geographic

Wikipedia.org

Pawnation.com

Golden Eagle

By Josh

Characteristics

Golden eagles are very fast and furious. It is very powerful and can lift three to four pounds. They are also very protecting with their eggs. They hunt for food for their hatchlings and for themselves. The species name is Aquila Chrysaetos.

Food

The golden eagle eats fox, carrion, ground squirrel, rabbits, deer, birds and fish. It use its talons and eyesight to get food or prey.

Ecosystem

Golden eagles live in the northern hemisphere in Mexico. it lives by the mountains where it's rocky. it is very territorial. Its territory is as far as sixty miles long. An ecosystem is a place where nonliving and living things interact.

